CMS Hospital CoP and TJC Telemedicine Standards: Telemedicine Credentialing and Privileging

Webinar #T4057

DATE AND TIME

July 18, 2017

9:00 - 11:00 a.m. CT

OVERVIEW

Are you familiar with the federal regulation on telemedicine along with the CMS hospital CoP interpretive guidelines? The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) have conditions of participation (CoP) interpretive guidelines, based on the federal regulations, for all hospitals regarding their telemedicine standards. The regulations and interpretive guidelines also impact hospitals accredited by the Joint Commission (TJC). TJC made changes to crosswalk with the final CMS standards, which affect both large hospitals, small and rural hospitals and critical access hospitals.

Our presenter will review these regulations and interpretive guidelines, and the responsibilities of the board, medical staff and hospitals to ensure compliance.

OBJECTIVES

1. Discuss the regulations and CMS interpretive guidelines, which are part of the hospital CoPs on telemedicine credentialing.
2. Describe the CMS mechanism in which all hospitals use proxy credentialing with Medicare-certified hospitals or other telemedicine entities.
3. Describe the written hospital agreement that specifies the responsibilities of the distant-site hospital credentialing requirements.
4. Identify the Joint Commission standards on telemedicine found in the leadership chapter.

TARGET AUDIENCE

CMOs, CNOs, COOs, medical staff leaders, teleradiology professionals, directors of radiology, risk managers, patient safety officers, nurse educators, joint commission directors, accreditation directors, directors of regulatory affairs, medical staff office personnel, compliance officers, hospital legal counsel and anyone involved in telemedicine services.
